

MEMORIAL EXERCISES HELD HERE FOR DEAD

LUTHER JOHNSON AND W. G. GILLIS PAY TRIBUTE TO BRAVERY OF SOLDIERS.

Milam County's war dead were honored in the memorial exercises held Saturday May 30 in Cameron. Congressman Luther Johnson and W. G. Gillis delivered the principal addresses, each praising the soldiers for their sacrifices in the late war.

The exercises were held on the lawn of the court house with flags hung in decoration. The exercises were held under the auspices of the American Legion. A large number of Legion men were in attendance and a number of mothers and fathers of the soldier dead. Several hundred people were on the lawn for the exercises and to hear the speakers.

After the ceremonies the legionnaires went to the graves of their comrades and placed flags and poppies.

The Legion had declared the day as poppy day and the largest number of poppies ever sold were reported by Geo. P. Barron, scout executive, and Rev. Love of the Episcopal church who gave his time during the day to the sale of the poppies.

In the afternoon Rev. Love had charge of the sale of poppies and also assisted the Boy Scouts in the sale. The Legion men are praising Rev. Love for his interest in the program and for the assistance given him in the success of the day.

The Boy Scouts played a big part in the program and for them praise is forthcoming from all sides. The scouts had charge of the flag ceremonies, advancing the colors and raising the flag to full mast. The scouts had charge of the sale of the poppies and it is due largely to them that so splendid a report was made.

THOS. R. MARSHALL IS DEAD IN WASHINGTON

FORMER VICE PRESIDENT DIES WHILE READING BIBLE MONDAY.

Washington, June 1.—Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana, wartime vice president under Woodrow Wilson, died here today of a heart attack.

He passed away without a word and without evidence of pain as he sat propped up in bed, reading a favorite passage from the Bible.

The end came unexpectedly, as the former vice president had shown some improvement in the week he had confined to his hotel room, and plans had been made for his return to his home in Indianapolis some time this week.

Accompanied by his wife, Mr. Marshall came to Washington a week ago today. On his arrival he went directly to the hotel, complaining of great exhaustion. When physicians were summoned, it was found he had suffered from a heart attack.

He regained strength gradually, however, and soon was in such condition that it was possible for Mrs. Marshall to leave the bedside to attend to various personal errands around the capital.

Death resulted from a recurrence of the heart attack which he suffered a week ago.

Tentative plans were made for burial at Marion, Indiana, near his father and mother and a foster child who died recently.

When the end came he was sitting up in bed reading from the Bible, to which he had turned throughout life for consolation and guidance, and into whose passages he often delved in his office adjoining the senate chamber in moments when his presence was not required as presiding officer.

Only a nurse was at the bedside. Mrs. Marshall was in an adjoining room. Suddenly slumping down upon the pillows, he passed away without a word and apparently without pain.

The room in which he died is on the fourth floor of the hotel, overlooking F street, Washington's

Oregon Klan School Bill Violates Constitution

BAPTIST CONGRESS ENDORSES PARDON POLICY

KLAN THRUST FREEDOM IS REBUKED BY COURT

BAKER BILL ALSO KILLED BY THE TEXAS STATE LEGISLATURE.

Washington, June 1.—Oregon lost in the supreme court today its right to compel children to attend public schools.

The court held that the states, in enforcing compulsory education laws, cannot require the attendance of children in public schools to the exclusion of private or parochial schools. The Oregon compulsory education law, requiring children between the ages of eight and 16 to attend public schools, therefore was declared invalid.

The decision had been awaited with unusual interest, because of the peculiar circumstances surrounding the litigation and because many other states have compulsory education laws. The Oregon law was attacked by the Society of the Sisters of the Holy Names of Jesus and Mary and Hill Military academy.

Throughout the controversy there were many charges that the statutes had been inspired by the Ku Klux Klan.

Justice McReynolds, delivering the opinion of the court, said the inevitable practical result of enforcing the Oregon act would be destruction of the parochial schools and other private primary schools which are engaged in a kind of undertaking "not inherently harmful, but long regarded as useful and meritorious."

"Certainly there is nothing in the present record to indicate that they have failed to discharge their obligations to patrons, students or the state," the court continued, "and there are no peculiar circumstances or present emergencies which demand extraordinary measures relative to primary education."

"We think it entirely plain that the Act of 1922 unreasonably interferes with the liberty of parents and guardians to direct the upbringing and education of children under their control."

"As often heretofore pointed out, rights guaranteed by the constitution may not be abridged by legislation to some purpose within the competency of the state."

"The fundamental theory of liberty upon which all governments in this union repose excludes any general power of the state to standardize its children by forcing them to accept instructions from public teachers only."

"The child is not the mere creature of the state; those who nurture him and direct his destiny have the right, coupled with the high duty, to recognize and prepare him for additional obligations."

A bill introduced by O. D. Baker while a member of the house of the Texas Legislature which sought to prescribe the course of study in the parochial schools of Texas and regarded in many respects as similar to the Oregon bill was killed by the committee but later brought out on a minority report and defended on the floor by Baker. At the time the Herald commented on this bill in an editorial and attacked its purposes as an infringement of constitutional rights guaranteed to the people. To this editorial Mr. Baker replied in a letter to the editor in which he said we were "utterly out of harmony with the best thought of the nation." The supreme court has not only sustained the opinion of the Herald and other opinions of the press but has killed the Klan attempt to administer the public schools.

Ferguson Courts campaign With Pardons As An Issue

CITY CONTRACTS SALE $100,000 IN WARRANTS

FINAL PASSAGE OF ORDINANCE AT MEETING HERE ON JUNE 16.

The city at a meeting Tuesday afternoon contracted to sell an issue of warrants amounting to $100,000.

The maturity dates on the warrants have not been obtained for publication but it is understood the warrants will run over a period of 15 years with maturities annually and bearing interest at the rate of six and a quarter per cent.

Ordinances are being prepared for the council to pass at its meeting on June 16. With the sale of these securities the city will have closed the struggle to issue which had its inception in a defeat at the hands of the people who opposed issuance of bonds.

It is known that opposition is still active and developments in the next two weeks may bring about some form of restraint if possible.

COMMERCIAL CLUB DECLINES NEW HOTEL FINANCING NOW

Monday night the commercial club after hearing a discussion of the feasibility of financing the new hotel project for Cameron instructed the chairman F. S. Lesovsky that it is not advisable under crop conditions to attempt to raise $35,000 at this time.

Mr. Lesovsky reported that the Citizens Bank and the Cameron State Bank had agreed to underwrite $10,000 each if notes could be secured from suitable contributors.

(Houston Chronicle.)

"A lot of politicians are trying to scare up an issue to run for governor on next year."

That's the way James E. Ferguson, former governor, and at present closely connected with the governor's office, defines the storm of criticism in regard to the pardon record of Mrs. Ferguson that has been going over the state.

The governor has spent the last few days going over prison farms.

Saturday night he sat in his room at the Bender and talked of many things—of pardons, of cotton crops, of the marvelous growth of the state, of the climate, of getting the prison system out of debt, of good roads, of schools, of how much Texas is spending for automobiles, of the coming of five new cotton mills to Texas, and—slightly of politics.

When he got back to the subject of pardons he said:

"You see, the whole thing was started by politicians who are trying to find an issue on which to run somebody for governor a year hence. But if they want to make 'that' the issue I am willing to take them on and I'll promise them now they can't win on it. They are out of accord with all our ideas of mercy and civilization."

"You see, we are all seekers after pardons. When your note comes due and you can't pay you ask pardon and get it extended. My wife is applying a little of this pardoning power to those in the penitentiary. But I want to say that practically every pardon has been granted on recommendations of the prosecuting attorneys, the judges, the juries and the sheriff, who sent the men to prison. When a man has served a large part of his time and those who sent him there come and say, 'He has been in long enough—give him a chance,' my wife has been inclined to do it."

He spoke of the pardon of Charles Mims, which has brought down on his wife the severest criticism.

"I'm willing to take these seekers after an issue on that pardon and tell the story to the people of Texas," he said. "Let them come on with their issue."

Then Ferguson told of a number of convicts he had seen in the last few days. He added there would be about 20 pardons this week. One he mentioned is an old negro on the Ramsey farm, who has served 33 years.

It isn't the same Jim Ferguson, who in the remarkable campaign of a year ago wore himself down until once or twice he almost faltered.

Ferguson has gained weight. He said he was happy and, "I never felt better in all my life," he added.

"Who would be candidates for

EXECUTIVE POLICY ONE OF MERCY IS COMMENT

BELIEVE PARDONS ARE JUST AND WISE AND PRAISE GOVERNOR.

Austin, Texas, June 1.—Commendation of the present executive pardoning policy was extended Governor Miriam A. Ferguson late Saturday by the Southwestern Central District Sunday School and Baptist Young People's Congress, and replied to today by the governor.

The telegram from the congress, authorized by the thirty-eighth session at Conroe, Texas, sent congratulations for the "good judgment" of Governor Ferguson in granting pardons.

"We do not condone crime of any kind, but believe that justice must be seasoned with mercy and not tempered with hate or anger, because of conditions or color." We pray for your divine guidance in the administration of the highest trust of our great state."

It was signed by Mrs. C. N. Golden, chairman of the special committee; Mrs. S. L. Rugeley, secretary; G. S. Huston, the Rev. D. G. Carter, Mrs. H. N. Shaw, the Rev. H. E. Body and Mrs. J. A. Randle.

In her reply Mrs. Ferguson said: "I thank you most cordially for your message of yesterday, approving my pardon policy. If those who are disposed to criticize would see the many unfortunate cases that are presented to me for relief, I am sure there would be much less criticism. Please convey to your congress my cordial regards and wishes for a successful session."

LEGIONAIRES TO STUDY RITUAL OF CEREMONIES

PARTS ASSIGNED AND WORK TO BE EXEMPLIFIED AT MEETING HERE SOON.

Tuesday night the Legion began its work of mastering the ritual for the initiation and session ceremonies. Parts were assigned and it is the hope of the legion that the work may be put on in proper form for all future initiation ceremonies.

The assignments for the parts have been made as follows. J. B. White, Post Commander; Ray Robinson, alternate commander; L. F. Gohmert, chaplain; J. D. Kirk, alternate chaplain; W. E. Alford, Sgt. at arms; Coy Arledge, alternate for Sgt. at Arms; Joe Richter, 1st vice commander; Frank Walzel, alternate for 1st vice commander; John Henderson, 2nd vice commander; Mack Akers, alternate for 2nd vice commander; A. E. Mitchell, past commander; T. S. Henderson, Jr., alternate for past commander.

The legionnaires will meet at the hall at some date next week to be designated by the post commander to practice the work.

At the next meeting on the first Tuesday in July a large number of candidates will be initiated.

On account of the small attendance Tuesday night no initiation was undertaken. Plans for entertainments were made and it is expected that if conditions are better on July 4th the Legion will stage a big celebration.

The departure of T. F. Hardy for an extended tour of Continental Europe on last Saturday will cause a keen loss to be felt in the banking circles of Cameron and his return will be awaited with interest by his host of friends.

MASON WEIR RESCUES 4 COMRADES FROM RIVER

BOY SCOUT TRAINING ENABLES YOUTH TO SAVE BOYS FROM DROWNING.

A Carnegie medal for heroism will be asked for Mason Weir who on last Wednesday afternoon saved four of his companions from death by drowning in Little River near the site of the new bridge.

Last Wednesday afternoon following a picnic given by Miss Velda Walker for her fifth grade pupils near the new bridge now under construction to replace McCown's bridge five boys left the crowd to go in swimming in Little River on the left side of the new bridge. Four of the boys went in one by one and found that they were in a suction hole, but each was powerless to help the other out. All were intelligent boys and one had had Scout training but could do nothing to help and the boys were in desperate straits. Mason Weir, the last boy ready to go in proceeded to cut a long willow limb, plunged in, and with the aid of the limb managed to bring the four boys almost exhausted by their struggle in the water safely to land. Then like many a heroic soul before him has done he went on home and said nothing about having saved his comrades. But the news has reached other ears and his friends are now anxious that he should be recommended for a Carnegie hero medal which the Herald very much desires may be secured for Mason Weir a Cameron boy about the age of thirteen years. The boys whom he helped to reach the bank were Aubrey Reightower, Ray McDonald, Don Barrett and Robert McDermott.

THE CHILDREN'S PLAY AND TRACK MEET.

We are giving the children's play at ten a. m. Tuesday morning this year, so they may have the afternoon free to enjoy Mr. Fox and Mr. Taylor, without having to work, themselves. This little play has an attractive plot, with plenty of music and dancing, and we trust the parents will be able to see it. Admission 10c, and this will be left in town with the committee for playground equipment.

It will greatly encourage the children to have a good crowd, and thus be able to buy something permanent for the park.

Brownwood Sheriff Backs Down Large Mob At Jail

Brownwood, May 31.—At attempt early Sunday by 150 to 200 unmasked armed men to break into the Brown county jail fell down before the determined resistance of Bert Hise, sheriff of the county, and Chief Deputy Carl Adams. The men were after John Smith, negro slayer of Sheriff Pauley of Coleman County, and apparently they came from Coleman, for many were recognized by the officers in the jail. Smith goes to trial here Monday for the murder of Pauley.

Rumors had been persistently circulated for two weeks that a massed attempt would be made to take the negro from the officers, and they came to a dramatic crystallization at 1:30 Sunday morning when about 50 automobiles swept through Main Street, turned onto Broadway and were parked around the Brown county court house and jail.

The crowd massed on the south side of the jail and then surged toward the gate, calling:

"Bert Hise."

"Stop right where you are, friends," the sheriff called back.

An hour earlier Hise had received a warning by telephone that a long procession of automobiles, traveling at high speed, had passed through the towns of Santa Anna and Bangs and were en route to Brownwood.

These points are on the Coleman-Brownwood highway, so that when the jail was guarded by Hise, Adams and seven other officers. All were armed with sawed off shot guns loaded with buckshot.

A parley followed. Hise and Adams stood just inside the jail door while the crowd were about the jail fence. Adams said:

"Friends, we don't want to have any trouble. We want you boys to disperse quietly and go on back home. If you step inside the gate we are going to start to shooting."

A man from the crowd came forward and introduced himself.

"We have come for the negro Smith, and we mean to have him," he said.

"Well you can't have him," Adams answered. "He is our prisoner and we are going to see that he is not molested."

Sheriff Hise again addressed the crowd. He called attention to the fact that his mother, Mrs. L. P. Hise, and Miss Barbara, were in the building.

"In the name of the law I call on you men to go on back to your homes. This negro is in our custody and we are going to protect him," he said.

While the parleying was in progress, Miss Barbara Hise turned in a fire alarm. The wailing of the siren awoke the town and soon a large crowd was on the streets. The firemen arrived at the jail at 2 o'clock and laid fire hose without molestation.

A few minutes later District Attorney Walter U. Early and Fred S. Abney, mayor of Brownwood, arrived, made speeches and freely mingled with the crowd. At 2:30 one of the Coleman men called out:

"All right, boys, we've decided to let the law take its course."

They began breaking up, then departing in little groups and by 3 o'clock the district around the jail was dark and quiet again. Not a shot was fired, although at least 50 of the crowd openly carried rifles, the officers said.

The hubbub did not shake the composure of the negro John Smith, but his companion, Arthur Tebo, a State's witness, was in a terrible state of fright. The two negroes were confined in the same cell on the second floor of the jail. There are two tiers on that floor, with six cells each, and all were occupied by prisoners. None of these, however, showed fright or excitement.

If the crowd had succeeded in forcing the main entrance on the first floor they would have had to cut their way through six other barred doors to reach Smith, an impossible feat without powerful acetylene torches.

Smith and Tebo were brought here Thursday night from Fort Worth. There are no Rangers in Brownwood Sheriff Hise and Deputy Adams saying that they feel able to handle the situation, but as a precautionary measure every person entering the court room during the trial will be searched.

AN ERA OF CONVENTIONS.

By Wm. A. Black.

Conventions come thick and fast. They represent almost every phase of commercial and social life. Groups are being so divided and subdivided for Convention purposes that the "live ones" spend much of their time planning programs for these gatherings. Someone has facetiously remarked that the purpose of a Convention is to hear an address of welcome, have a banquet, elect officers and name the next meeting place. The Convention habit has developed professional experts in management.

During one week we had the State Federation of Labor, The Manufacturers Association, Retail Merchants Association and the Commercial Secretaries. Labor is worried over its loss of influence at Austin. The Manufacturers are troubled by freight rates, increased labor costs and a slow market for their products. The Retail Merchants have their troubles, the chief of which is credits with its attendant slow and poor pay; keen competition with the chain-store and mail order houses encroaching on their business. The Commmercial Secretaries are having their day. There is a fine crop of Chambers of Commerce and their Secretaries have become the "engineers" of progress. They, themselves, confess it and it must be so.

It would seem as if all the troubles of our commercial life could soon be settled with this wonderful exchange of wisdom, but somehow these troubles seem to multiply rather than lessen. The professional Convention speaker goes about the country dated in advance. He is liberally applauded at the fine hits he makes on the wrong attitude of the other fellow but nothing seems to come of it all. Some factor is left out of their reasoning, else with our improved methods and efficiency there could be no complaint as to results.

We hear a great deal about the increased cost of labor. Wages are at a high level, measured in dollars, but along with high wages there is that strange phenomenon of low purchasing power. There is also unemployment approaching the danger point. Here is a condition that our Convention speakers take good care to avoid. They also avoid the tenant farmer and his problems and he is too poor and hopeless to call a Convention to tell the world what he needs. The tenant farmer of Texas is one fourth of our population and should have one fourth of the consuming power of our people. Here is a large group that needs immediate attention. They can't help themselves. Their first and chief need is land whether they know it or not and to supply that need they are dependent on a comparatively small group. Of course, the tenant farmer gets sympathy, but he cannot exchange the sympathy for bacon and flour. What he needs is land but there's the rub. You can't give

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Well-known druggists say everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

Progress

Two recent developments have focused public attention on Graham Brothers Trucks as never before.

One was the sweeping price reductions of May 15th, ranging from $80 to $160.

The other was Graham Brothers ascendancy to leadership by building more 1½ ton trucks than any other manufacturer in the world, during the first quarter of 1925, and by achieving second position in the 1 ton and 1½ ton fields combined.

Progress such as this deserves public attention—and eliminates all doubt as to the logical truck to buy!

LOCALS AND PERSONALS.

Another life has been saved in the area as a result of a Scout's knowledge of what to do in an emergency. Last Sunday afternoon while walking on the R'y trestle near Cameron, Gene Crowell a first class Scout of Troop 1, Cameron, was very much frightened as he saw his little brother tumble off the bridge to the bottom of the creek 20 feet below where he landed on his back. After working for fifteen minutes with the lifeless form trying to bring him back to life and all efforts having failed, Gene thought of his artificial respiration method used in restoring life to people drowned or gassed. When he had used this remedy for a few minutes the boy began to show signs of life and was soon breathing naturally. The boy is back in school and apparently as well as before this incident. Had it not been for the knowledge gained in scouting by Gene there is no question but what his brother would have been in his grave at this time.

SNAKE BITE DOESN'T WORRY SCOUT.

Ordinarily a snake is looked upon with alarm by the average boy and his parents but not so with the Scouts of Milam county after witnessing the Scout First Aid for snake bites administered to Don Nabours at Randall Lake the past week end. Don is the champion snake charmer of Troop 1 of Cameron and proved right interesting in capturing snakes of various kinds until he got hold of a coach whip that refused to be charmed but instead punctured the finger of Don with his poisonous teeth. But Don didn't worry about the matter in the least but immediately tied a cord around his finger to cut off the circulation of blood after which a couple of slits with a sterilized knife blade were made across the junctured finger and permanganate of potash applied to the wound after poisonous blood had escaped. Aside from the pain of having a slit cut in his finger and the burning of the permanganate of potash Don suffered no pain nor uneasiness. A Scout is taught to "Be Prepared" for anything of this kind that might arise and this (and the foregoing) are only incidents showing how safe it is for your son to be out with Scouts.

SCOUT SCHOOL FOR MILAM COUNTY.

The past week end the Editor was joined by Scouts from Milam County at a Scout School at Randall Lake. Due to illness of Dr. Swafford's father not many of the boys from Rockdale were in attendance. The attendance from Cameron was rather light on account of many Scouts having a part in the Yoe Hi Carnival, however, something like 25 Scouts were present for the school and considerable progress was made in passing tests.

After arriving at Camp and witnessing a demonstration in snake charming by our Snake Charmer, Don Nabours, all of the boys un-bathing suited hit the lake for a little swim and study in life saving. There or four methods of approaching and rescuing drowning persons were taught the boys after which each of them practiced all of these methods on their partner. The work proved quite as interesting as the ordinary swimming games which are always enjoyed by the boys on such an occasion.

After each boy had fared sumptuously on his bacon, french fried, tea, onions, etc., they were called about to the oratory of the Editor, the Council fire and caused to listen Scoutmaster J. P. Love and Dad Longmeyer of Rockdale. Dad Longmeyer as he is now known to Rockdale and Cameron Scouts is president of the White Perch Fishing Club of Rockdale, the owners of Randall Lake. He is the man that is responsible for the Milam county Scouts having the use of this club lake as a camp place. Dad made a very helpful talk to the boys and one that will stay with them long after Dad has gone on to his reward. If all men were as interested in the welfare of the boys as is Dad Longmeyer there would be no club ground anywhere that would be too good for the boys to use at their will. After listening to the above words of wisdom the boys formed an Indian Council Ring and staged various contests that proved both helpful and amusing to spectators and the boys. The body was then called from refreshments to labor and spent the remaining hours until "Taps" passing various Scout tests before Scout officials. Saturday was given to instruction in Scouting and passing of tests by boys.

SCOUTAMESE TWINS AT THE CARNIVAL.

One of the many interesting side shows at the recent Yoe Hi Carnival at Cameron was the Scoutamese twins, or the Human Amoeba that was sponsored by the Boy Scouts of Troop 1. Scouts Wallace, Triggs, Keith and Freeman, managers of this department proved quite interesting as they explained to the visitors how the Scout life was causing Pany Rogers to develop into a human amoeba.

EDITORIALS.

Application for Charter—Let me urge you again to get in your Application for Troop Charter. There are yet three troops that have not sent in this application. Remember your boys are not really Scouts until they are registered at National Headquarters. If they do a heroic act it will not be honored unless the boy is registered.

Monthly Report—Scoutmasters, let me urge you to send in your Monthly Report so that it will reach here not later than the first of each month.

A few troops failed to do this last month and my report to Regional Headquarters was incomplete.

Jamboree Bug Contest—A number of Scoutmasters have asked that we change the nature of the bug contest so that they will not all have to be in bottles. What we want is bugs so fix them any way you please just so they are labeled. The Cameron Scouts are making quite a collection of snakes to go into this exhibit. While a snake is not a bug yet I suppose they might be entered.

Jamboree day is drawing near so you must get busy. No time is to be lost if you are going to have a scout in each event. Get them going and get in some good practice now since school is out. Cameron people will be prepared to entertain you on this occasion with a big free barbecue.

If you have a suggestion for the Scout News, let's have it.

Clean Kidneys By Drinking Lots of Water

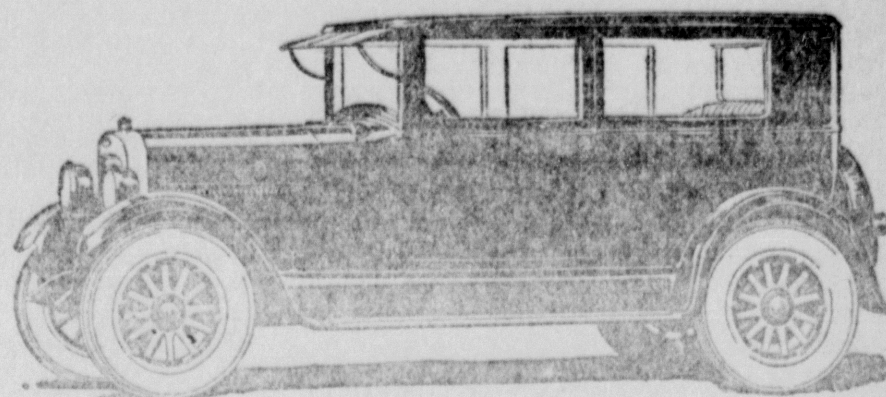

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers or Back Hurts

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts can not injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

"PRUDENCE"

By FLORENCE MELLISH

(©, 1924, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

WHEN Amos Whiting told Hawkins to give Oscar French something on the Eagle, Oscar did not have the vanity to think it was wholly on account of his own journalistic ability. Oscar's father had been Amos Whiting's closest chum. But Oscar had a knack for writing, and he meant to make good.

"You'll have to take whatever, Hawkins gives you, even if it doesn't happen to suit your taste; then, by and by, you may get something different."

"We're swamped with sub reporters already. But if Whiting—see here, you may have 'The Twilight Hour.' Mrs. Starkweather is laid up indefinitely. You give advice to girls, discreet and sensible, but sympathetic. See? Your desk is over there, by the window. I'll send you some of Mrs. Starkweather's files so that you can get her drift. Your signature will be 'Prudence Kenworthy.'"

"But— isn't that a lady's name?" Oscar gasped.

"Of course, and you want to be lady-like and refined, you know. No rough stuff and no slang. You'll soon get the feminine touch."

"Great Caesar!" groaned Oscar French. "I don't want to get a feminine touch. I want a man's job."

Hawkins turned a curt shoulder. "That's all I have for you now. You can take it or leave it."

Young French set his teeth. "I'll take it."

"Oh, you'll like it when you get started, especially when the personal letters come in. But don't try to answer many of them. It's a waste of time."

Young French strode over to the desk by the window and buried himself in Mrs. Starkweather's files. He began his uncongenial task with grim determination, and soon had the satisfaction of feeling that at least he was equal to it. When some waggish reporters left an offering of camellias and maidenhair ferns with a box of chocolates on his desk he placidly dumped the flowers into the wastebasket and ate the candy with ostentatious relish.

Oscar's manly determination to get the feminine touch was a success. He soon out-Prudenced Prudence herself, and the personal letters poured in assuring Miss Kenworthy that she was "better and better every day."

The personal letters! He did enjoy them, though he followed Hawkins' advice and answered few of them. But he did write personally to Georgie Goodale. Georgie wasn't sentimental or whiny, and she had some "pep." She lived in Martinville with her aunt Rachael. Aunt Rachael was a dear, but she wouldn't let Georgie do anything that the other young people did, and she was opposed to Georgie's studying law.

"Dear Miss Kenworthy," Georgie wrote, "your letters are a comfort and an inspiration, too. The twilight hour is the best in my day. But I'd give my new camera for a talk with you face to face. Now you like fishing; you said you did. Back of our cottage is a wonderful trout brook, and Aunt Rachael's luncheons are gorgeous. Can't we make a date?"

Oscar French caught at the idea. He did make a date with Georgie. He laughed at the mirrored image of his fisherman's costume in anticipation of her surprise. He looked forward like a schoolboy to the tete-a-tete and the good fishing and Aunt Rachael's "gorgeous luncheon." But when he actually stood on the platform of Marshville station he scanned the faces of the women waiting there, half dreading to meet Georgie.

"I have lots of freckles and look like a boy," she had written. He failed to identify the buoyant and vivacious Georgie in the middle-aged and jaded woman before him. A lanky, freckled youth with a long, thin nose and a long, thin neck, was watching the women who alighted from the train.

"I'm looking for Prudence Kenworthy," he announced impersonally. "Hello, Georgie," called a genial employee, who was carrying leather mailbags.

Oscar faced the freckled youth. "That's one of my names." The freckled youth grinned. "I'm Georgie. The joke's on me," he added magnanimously.

"No, it's on me," French insisted, not to be outdone. "You have the freckles, at any rate. Is there a real trout brook?"

"You bet your life there is! and a cloudy day like this—oh, boy! Come on, partner, and we'll show 'em."

"I'm glad you aren't a lady," Georgie confided to his companion when the wicker baskets were nearly full. "I was beginning to have cold feet."

"So was I," French acknowledged. "Well, it's time for luncheon, and Aunt Rachael promised to make a peach short-cake. I guess she'll have chicken salad, too."

They tramped across the fields and approached the cottage from the back. "There's Aunt Rachael in the doorway," cried Georgie, who was striding ahead in the narrow path.

Oscar looked over Georgie's shoulder. That union of girlish grace and womanly poise? Why, Aunt Rachael was peaches and cream!

"Luncheon's ready, Georgie," she called and vanished.

Georgie waved his guest up the broad, low stone steps. Oscar French drew in the fragrance of hot coffee and short-cake and, passing through the low vine-wreathed doorway, he followed Aunt Rachael like a sheep.

MASTER FORGERS' TRICKS EXPOSED

The "Perfect Forgery" Always Has a Weak Spot That Leads to Penman's Downfall.

NATIONWIDE DRAGNET OUT

Bankers Working Together to Catch Crooks Who Cause Losses of $150,000,000 With Bad Checks Yearly.

A bogus check scheme that was so original, sound and business-like that it became known in detective circles as "the one perfect forgery," but finally, like all of them, led to its own inventor being trapped, is described by Reuben A. Lewis, Jr., in the American Bankers Association Journal. The article, which says forgeries cost the banks and business concerns at least $150,000,000 a year, deals with the ways of forgers and the relentless warfare being conducted against them by the bankers.

"Crime does not pay," Mr. Lewis says. "Soon the law reaches out and seizes the misguided operator who thinks he can get away with it. For one of the peculiar things about the forger is that, while he may devise a clever scheme that brings a rich return on its initial trial, he continues to work it until caught."

"Fortunately, there appears to be a weak spot in the best laid scheme. And just as soon as this weak spot is uncovered, it is broadcast to all the banks in the land. So the banks, informed as to the method of approach that the forger will make, and the little peculiarities of the job, are on the alert to nab him when he makes his next reappearance."

The King of Forgers

"The 'master forger' is William Hamilton Harkins, probably the most dangerous operator known to the banking world. Several times in the toils of the law, Harkins has managed to escape. The daring 'king' of the forgers made a confession that he had defrauded banks of more than $300,000 during the years of his career."

"His scheme follows a certain set pattern. The key to Harkins' plan is obtaining a blank check from the checkbook of a well known firm. Recently Harkins sauntered into the office of a granite dealer. He ordered a monument and tendered a check for a substantial part of the memorial. He requested the proprietor of the store to permit him to dash off a letter to his folks at home. Seizing a propitious moment, Harkins spotted his checkbook, noted the exact balance tore out a sheaf of checks and disappeared.

"Reproducing the proprietor's signature, Harkins drew up a sizeable check. On the reverse side he inscribed his alias as the payee and then added after 'O. K.' the facsimile of the depositor's signature. This acted as an identification indorsement, so when he presented the check at the bank it was readily cashed."

The Weak Spot

"The weak spot in Harkins' scheme is the identification indorsement. If the teller, before cashing any check bearing this alleged indorsement, telephoned to the depositor and checked up on its issuance, the scheme would have short shrift."

Banks throughout the country have been put on guard against Harkins and his plan and it is believed he cannot operate long without again falling into the net. The scheme that was pronounced unbeatable was devised by a forger known as F. Mayer and centered around the certified check fraud. Mr. Lewis says, continuing:

"F. Mayer would open accounts with four or five banks in a sizeable city. The largest account ran around $5,000. By kiting checks back and forth between the several banks, he would establish his identity with the tellers and become known as a man accustomed to deal in large figures."

"After conducting these preliminaries for a few weeks, Mayer would go to the bank where he had his largest account and ask that a certified check be issued to him for substantially all of the money remaining to his credit. From the genuine check, he would make four or five duplicates."

"In turn, Mayer would visit the other banks, where he had established small accounts. Inasmuch as he had cashed checks for some time, Mayer generally had little trouble in getting the banks to honor the certified checks. If a teller took the precaution of calling the issuing bank on the telephone to inquire if it had made out such a certified check, he would gain confirmation."

The Forger Caught

"But even the 'perfect' forgery scheme cannot be worked with impunity. Mayer succeeded in defrauding Kansas City banks out of $27,000 and made his escape. A few months later he was walking down the streets of Los Angeles when a teller who had honored one of the bogus checks in the middle western city recognized him. Mayer took to his heels with the former teller in hot pursuit, and the criminal lost."

The losses sustained through forgeries by banks may be mainly attributed to the failure of the tellers to observe the rules against cashing checks for strangers or allowing depositors to draw on uncollected items.

"A relentless, sustained hunt is conducted to apprehend the forgers. The new twists, the variations in the methods, the latest ruses used are followed by the detectives. The modes of operation are broadcasted throughout the country," the article declares. "The American Bankers Association alone, through its Protective Division, spends more than $100,000 a year to check depredations against banks."

PREDICT A CONTINUED BIG SALE OF AUTOS.

High automotive production will continue well through the second half of 1925 it is expected by R. H. Grant, sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company, who has spent three months of the current year visiting in direct contact with Chevrolet dealers. His travels have taken him to most of the large cities and more than half the states.

"Demand for cars, which even before this time last year was beginning to slacken, still remains strong," said Mr. Grant. "The sales peaks and depressions of former years are beginning to flatten out. The automobile has become a year 'round product, particularly since the closed car grew to such favor. Seasonable variations in demand are becoming less marked.

"No one section predominates as a present or prospective market for automobiles. Sales throughout the entire country reveal a gratifying steadiness and uniformity of demand. And improvement of the agricultural situation, particularly in the southwest where the drouth has broken, indicates that thousands of farmer-purchasers will help sustain the demand during the latter part of the years.

"It is not improbable that demand will increase slightly in the near future and then remain unchanged for some time, still at a comparatively high level. This possibility, however, will have slight effect upon production, especially among the large companies.

"Production of the more popular cars during recent months has been unequal to demand with the result that manufacturers have been accumulating a reserve of unfilled orders which they can meet only by steadily building automobiles. This is a favorable and healthy condition for any business. It is a guarantee against abrupt production variations. Also, it benefits the dealers because immediate delivery of cars to waiting purchasers permits a rapid turnover of capital.

"The race of the Chevrolet unfilled order list against recent record production strides argues well for future sales. Chevrolet went into May with 35,682 unfilled orders. In spite of a large production schedule the amount of orders was diminished but slightly, due to the number of new orders received."

RADIO AND ITS WON- DERFUL OPPORTUNITY.

There has never been a time when advantages offered for any thing were greater than are now offered for Radio Experts and operators. Radio has developed more than sixteen times within the last twelve months. This has created a demand for operators that cannot properly be supplied at this time. These operators are in demand by shipping concerns, by commercial and business houses and by Radio and Electrical concerns. Not only is there a demand for Radio Operators but there is also a big demand for Radio Salesmen and Experts. In order to be a good Radio Salesman, one must know Radio in every particular.

The Government demands that all ships carrying a crew of 50 or more and plying between ports over 200 miles apart carry Radio Equipment. These shipping companies look to the Radio Department for operators. In a few weeks, you can easily fit yourself for these positions. The key to the best paid positions in the Radio Field is the Government First Class Operators License. Every operator on a ship, in commercial land stations or broadcasting stations must have a license. This license is the Radio Expert's Degree. It opens up to him all the wonderful opportunities of his profession.

You can qualify within a very short time by taking a complete Radio Course in Tyler Commercial College, Tyler, Texas. Previous experience is not necessary. This school has receiving and transmitting equipment—Amateur 5DG, Commercial WOAF. The Radio Department is in charge of Government Licensed First Class Radio Operators who have had varied experience in the Radio Field. They can prepare you to accept and hold a position with the Government or any Radio Concern. You can find Tyler Commercial College Trained Operators in all parts of the world.

M. C. Mead, Radio Operator on the S. S. Bidwell, a vessel of the Sun Oil Company, T. C. C. Trained Operator, is on the S. S. Solitarie a Texas Company Vessel. He went directly from school to that position.

W. A. Paul, Radio Operator on the S. S. Gulfmaid has seen service on five ships for the Radio Corporation of America since leaving school. Besides the many pleasant trips he has made, he has been enjoying a splendid salary and has opportunities for advancement.

J. L. Marshall is in the Radio business for himself in Troy, Tenn. C. C. Garrett is connected with WMC at Memphis, Tenn. Louis E. Littlejohn passed the Examination in two months and went to a position paying $125 per month and expenses. All of these received their training in Tyler Commercial College. There are mentioned out of the large number of T. C. C. graduates who are pleased with their training.

Do not hesitate to enter the field where thousands of wonderful positions are open. The course of Radio may be taken alone or in connection with courses of Bookkeeping, Short-hand, Typewriting, Business Administration and Finance, Telegraphy Penmanship, Civil Service or Cotton Classing.

The thoroughness of courses is indisputably proved by enrollment of over 4000 annually. Business men recognize Tyler Commercial College graduates as capable. This is proven by the fact that they call on the school daily for graduates.

Question: Why is a

Answer: Because of Buick's wonderful steering mechanism. It is the most expensive type now installed on any motor car—and worth the difference because it adds to Buick performance still another point of superiority.

NAMES OF ME Lay Revival Starts In SOLDIERS KILL Sunday, May 31st

BURIAL PLACES AT BOYS KILLED, MISSING IN

The following list of boys who died, were killed in the world war, was given at the Methodist church at the revival Sunday. These two and Mrs. Jeff T. Kemp, Chas. J. Brown, Rockdale, reported missing after Lenon Burgess, Burleson Collier Cyclops, John M. Baty, Milano, Travis with pneumonia, Hill. Joe Brown, Gay Hill, monia at Issa Field, Hill. Harry Weekly Bevers, ed in action, buried in Ira Lee Brown, Rockdale, munition plant, Anatole, Jas. W. Carlisle, Rockdale, Oct. 1918 in action, buried.

Hicks Carlisle, Rockdale, the unique evangelist, Hub DeLay, assisted by E. W. Pfaffenberger, soloist and choir director. Capacity congregations have assembled in the Methodist church to hear this evangelist of national reputation who preaches plain truth supported by Holy writ. They return again and again because his manner of presenting the truth is "entirely different from the usual."

The Evangelist, not Reverend or Doctor, but just plain "Hub DeLay" does not urge you to join the church but urges repentance for sins and faith in Christ. He preaches a practical religion. "Be honest and pay your debts" is a favorite formula with him.

Hub DeLay has somewhere back in his ancestry a Huguenot strain—Protestant French blood as his name DeLay will attest. From that ancestry he gets the imagination that illumines and vivifies his sermons. Here, too, he gets his strong business sense which has been cultivated in his actual business life. DeLay's face has the Irish contour—it is a plain Irish face. From the Celtic Strain comes the humor that often convulses his audience in laughter after his imagination and word pictures have carried his listeners to a feeling of sorrow and sympathy. Serious as is his mission and his earnestness, yet through it all run appeals to all man kind. His Irish temperament is exemplified in his fighting posture, that always accompanies his trade against a dead church or some sin. There is mimicry too, followed often by a short quick blow that leaves the imaginary embodiment of the evil thing lying lifeless on the platform. He says he is not a Modernist but believes the whole Bible from "River to River." One of his most impressive sermons has been on the experiences of Jonah.

BREAK CHEST COLDS WITH RED PEPPER

Ease your tight, aching chest. Stop the pain. Break up the congestion. Feel a bad cold loosen up in just a short time.

"Red Pepper Rub" is the cold remedy that brings quickest relief. It cannot hurt you and it certainly seems to end the tightness and drive the congestion and soreness right out.

Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers, and when heat penetrates right down into colds, congestion, aching muscles and sore, stiff joints relief comes at once.

The moment you apply Red Pepper Rub you feel the tingling heat. In three minutes the congested spot is warmed through and through. When you are suffering from a cold, rheumatism, backache, stiff neck or sore muscles, just get a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub, made from red peppers, at any drug store. You will have the quickest relief known. Always say "Rowles."

CROPS ARE SAVED BY HALF INCH RAIN IN MATCHLESS MILAM.

Just as the farmers of Milam county had come to believe the crops could go no longer without rain, old J. Pluvius tilted his water barrel and spilled out a half inch wetting Monday morning of this week, the shower falling upon the just and unjust alike.

Here in town the rain gauge measured fifty-five one-hundredths of an inch. Out northwest and west of town it is said to have been slightly heavier, and the same reports come from the southwest section of the county. South, southeast and east, however, the rainfall is said to have been not so good.

All sections have received benefit, and the blackland sections are especially grateful. Farmers in the Gabriel and Little river bottoms were about at their rows' ends, and many crops are absolutely saved for the time being.

More rain will have to come yet before the crop is made. Corn, of course, will be a practical failure all over the county. Cotton has no "bottom season" to fall back upon, and seasonable rains must come to assure a good crop. This week's rain will do wonders for the feed crops, such as maize, feterita, etc. All in all, farmers and business men alike are indeed thankful for the rain, which never came at a better time in the history of the county.—Rockdale Reporter.

NEELEY AND REAVES OUT: ROAD CONTRACTOR IN.

Effective May 23rd the maintenance of the state highways in Milam county is contracted to Frank Dennison, of Temple. Local Supervisor T. E. Neeley at the same time was dropped from the state's list of employees, the new contractor taking over his duties as well as those of Mr. Reaves who had supervision of the highways north of the river in this county. Homer Gamble, district supervisor, we understand, will be continued in that capacity.

It is the new policy of the Highway Commission to let out by contract all maintenance work, and Mr. Dennison has bid in Milam, Williamson, Bell and Falls counties. It is understood the Milam county contract is for $50,000 per annum. There are 134 miles of state highway in the county.

Some dissatisfaction is being expressed by the people. The maintenance work was being looked after carefully by Messrs. Neeley and Reaves, and everybody was very well satisfied with the character of work being done. Mr. Neeley, while new at this kind of work, was getting some splendid results and was making a record for being always on the job, and had just begun to get things lined up in his district where the work was beginning to show up to advantage. At the time he was dispossessed he was engaged in resurfacing the Sap Highway from Rockdale north to the Tracy road fork, a distance of two miles. He had completed about half of the distance, using a good grade of gravel and a wide roadbed. Whether or not this strip will be completed under the new regime is not yet known.

Doubtless it will require sometime for the contractor to assemble his forces and plan his work. The people

STOP CATARRH! OPEN NOSTRILS AND HEAD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Relieves Head-Colds at Once.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh, just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

Ah! How good it feels. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, no more hawking, snuffling, blowing; no more headache, dryness or struggling for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head colds and catarrh need. It's a delight.

Pioneer Rockdale Newspaper
Man Dies; Buried Tuesday

(By Mrs. A. M. Dennington, in Rockdale Reporter.)

The body of Wm. M. Ferguson, who passed away at his home in Burnet, Texas, Monday, May 25, arrived by automobile route in Rockdale Tuesday, under escort of relatives and friends, and was conveyed to the home of Mayor and Mrs. H. C. Meyer.

High blood pressure and complications incident to an octogenarian was the immediate cause of his death. Though he had been in declining health for some time and had been confined to his bed at intervals, none was prepared for this sudden announcement.

At 4:30 p. m., followed by a cortege of sorrowing friends and relatives, the remains were transported to the Old City Cemetery, where after the scriptural reading and remarks on the character of deceased by his pastor, the Rev. W. P. Grow of Burnet the Odd Fellows took charge, a number coming from Sharp to participate in the ceremonies.

Interment was made in the family burial plot by the side of loved ones gone before. It had been the expressed wish of Mr. Ferguson that his final resting place be among friends and kindred in "dear old Rockdale," and preparations had long been made to that end.

W. M. Ferguson was born to Chilton county, Kentucky, on May 7, 1838. In 1862, during the war between the states, he volunteered in the Confederate Army, Hood's Texas Brigade. He was honorably discharged in December, 1863, on account of illness, but re-enlisted in February, 1864, in Tom Green's Brigade.

Mr. Ferguson was a careful, far-seeing, constructive citizen. He adored nature, and loved to see things grow, the greater part of his life being devoted to agricultural pursuits, building and real estate, and was the first one in this section to introduce truck growing on his farm home north east of Rockdale. Having occasion to solicit data on the early history of Rockdale, he gave some valuable and authentic accounts excerpts of which will be both interesting and at the same time present the trend and character of the man, more than pages could describe. He wrote:

"In the early part of the year of 1873, George Green, then my near and good neighbor, was busily engaged in surveying land in the post oaks near Rock Prairie, which was one of the well known parts of the south side of Milam county. Later, he told me that he, B. F. Ackerman and Frank Smith had sold to the International Railroad company 400 acres of land on which to lay off a town. On September 3rd, the railroad company had a public sale; the surveyors had felled the trees, and left the number, location and boundary of each lot. The highest price paid for a single lot was paid by I. Jalonick of Galveston, who paid $300 for the lot on which he later put the stone building on the corner of Main and Milam streets.

"In the fall of 1873, W. L. Luter opened a blacksmith shop on Main street and in December the writer helped move Joe Hooks and family to Rockdale, which then boasted a few scattered rough box houses. We unloaded the family in a rawhide rough house in the black jack grove on the hill northeast of where the depot was to be. The writer later bought two lots east of Hooks' (now the Rice home) and built a home, and later built one next door for the big hearted and noble Major W. M. McGregor, who together with James A. Muir, moved the newspaper—then the 'Milam County Messenger'—from Cameron to Rockdale. I moved to Rockdale on January 17, 1874, the track was completed and the first passenger cars run into Rockdale on February 4, 1874, but they refused to take passengers out, because they said the road had not been received from the contractors, but did take some passengers at their own risk."

Mr. Ferguson was an inveterate reader of newspapers, and took keen interest in political affairs. He owned and edited "The Rockdale Messenger" from 1893 to 1900, and changed the policies of the paper from Democratic to that of the People's Party, then advocating most of the reforms that have since been voiced by Bryan.

He sold the Messenger to the late Howard E. Wilson, who restored it to the Democratic fold, and for health reasons moved to Roswell, N. M., where he engaged in the production of apples and alfalfa. But the lotus call to Texas was strong and we find him true to his instincts, located on a farm near Haskell, and again at Tankersly, near the San Angelo district. He finally settled in Burnet, where in the knowledge of a well spent life he rested from his labors surrounded by his family, his books, his friends. In his last communication he declared: "I have very little more time in this world, but thank the Lord I am ready to answer the call of my Maker," and gave his benediction, including all old friends.

Such lives never die, and the lesson of their life is plain to read. Looking ever up to God, and living in His light, the faithful one may become a lamp from within which the Christ Himself shines out to bless the world.

Surviving relatives are: His widow, Mrs. Martha A. (Harvey) Ferguson, an only daughter, Mrs. Mabel Gazlow of Albuquerque, N. M., and four sons, Jasper N., of El Paso; Hugh Harvey, of Globe, Ariz.; William Malcolm, of Marble Falls, and several grand children.

Accompanying the remains were Rev. and Mrs. W. P. Grow, Roger Lovelace and T. C. Ferguson of Burnet, J. H. Stapp, Jr., Andrew Lacky and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Ferguson, Jr., of Marble Falls.

Beautiful flowers cover the newly made mound, so typical of the Life Eternal.

INDIGESTION

Black-Draught Brings Relief for Tight, Bloating Feeling.

"I had indigestion," says Mr. W. B. Bouknight, of Balentine, S. C. "Working out, I got in the habit of eating fast, for which I soon paid by having a tight, bloated feeling after meals. This made me very uncomfortable.

"I would feel stupid and drowsy, didn't feel like working. I was told it was indigestion. Some one recommended Black-Draught and I took it after meals. I soon could eat anything any time.

"I use it for colds and biliousness and it will knock out a cold and carry away the bile better and quicker than any liver medicine I have ever found."

Eating too fast, too much, or faulty chewing of your food, often causes discomfort after meals. A pinch of Black-Draught, washed down with a swallow of water, will help to bring prompt relief.

Black-Draught gently helps the over-taxed organs to perform their regular functions, in such cases, ridding the system of poisons that might accumulate.

BADLY RUN-DOWN

Lady Was Very Depressed on Account of Poor Health.

Mrs. H. S. Miller, of Spindale, N. C., says: "Five years ago I was very much run-down in health. I would give out with the least exertion. At times I would have to go to bed.
"I read of Cardui. . . My husband got me a bottle and encouraged me to take it. I was almost a skeleton, I was so thin. I was run-down and my general health was very poor. This was very depressing and I was in low spirits. My husband had to help me around. He did all he could for me and had me keep up Cardui.
"I continued taking the medicine for several months and it was wonderful the improvement I made. I gained over twenty pounds in weight, and I felt so much better besides. This gain was permanent, too. I have never lost it and my general health has been much better since I took Cardui."

A Nation's Strength

Due largely to exacting charter requirements, there are comparatively few national banks in the United State—8,143 in all.

State banks outnumber national banks nearly three to one, yet the nationally chartered banks represent resources totaling well over twenty billion dollars ($20,000,000,000) nearly half of the total banking resources of the United States.

Those facts are worthy of thoughtful consideration in the selection of a bank.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Misses Ernestine and Annie Walzel of Ad Hall honored their mother with a beautiful moon light birthday party Sunday night May 31.

The home was beautifully decorated with ferns and artificial roses. And the birthday cake bearing fifty pink and red burning candles which gave a very nice appearance to the dinner room. There being four sisters and one brother present and lots of nephews and nieces and friends from Ad Hall, North Elm, Sharp and Buckholts and Cameron. Many ring games that the guests chose to play were enjoyed. After the games were over, the guests were invited to the dinner room where cake and ice cream was served for refreshment.

Music was furnished by the Victrola which was enjoyed by all present. They then reported an enjoyable time and left for their respective homes.

Many friends of the graduates of 1925 were made welcome in the spacious auditorium on Friday evening to listen to the closing program of the school year. Arranged in cap and gowns the large class of 1925 filed in to take their reserved places near the front. Upon the handsomely arranged stage members of the school board, the faculty, musicians and guests of honor had places.

The program was well received and not too long to be interesting.

Both Salutatorian and Valedictorian were boys who have paid their expenses while pursuing their studies here and have each won wide circles of true friends and hosts of admirers in Cameron where the people will expect great things of them in later life. Members of the Class were roundly applauded as their diplomas were presented by Mrs. Lula C. Gillis.

The Commencement Orator Congressman Luther A. Johnson delivered an appreciated address which showed his full sympathy with the splendid class he had come to address. His recent appointment of two of Yoe High School's most talented graduates, W. T. Hefley to West Point and Leonard Mewhinney to Annapolis, show the high esteem in which the boys of Yoe High are held by their representative in Congress.

Special mention should be made of each feature on the following program:

Processional—Miss Lucile Dickard. Invocation—Rev. H. R. MacFadyen. Salutatory—Efford Hazeltine. Piano—"A La Bien-Aimée (Schutt)"—Miss Inez Goff. Valedictory—Carl Bryan. Pledge of Allegiance to the Public Schools—Senior Class. Benediction—Rev. E. S. Hutcherson.

A reception for the graduates was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Green on Friday evening after the exercises in the school auditorium. Punch was served throughout the evening and Eskimo Pies were enjoyed as a final treat before the class disbanded for the term. This hospitality extended by Mr. and Mrs. Green will long be remembered by members of the class of 1925.

Games and gifts and generous refreshments made the afternoon one long to be remembered by the honorees and their friends who enjoyed their birthday party. Out of town guests were H. A. and Ruby Nash and Louise Sisson from Hearne. After the home party Mrs. Holden chaperoned the entire crowd for a swim in the City Natatorium.

CLASS PARTY.

Honoring his sophomore classmate of Yoe High school, Henry McFadyen, Frederick Graves assembled members of that class in his home Wednesday evening for a farewell party. Miss Velda Walker assisted Mrs. Preston Graves in hostess duties. A memory book for the honoree was prepared and duly autographed by all present.

A salad and ice course was attractively served. The honoree was the recipient of the best wishes of all his friends who will miss him so much in Cameron. Henry has made an enviable school record in Cameron and has received state prizes for essay writing. His friends here will remember him for his faithfulness to duty and will expect him to become famous in his new home in Nashville, Tenn.

Sarah McCalla Chapter, Daughters of American Revolution held an interesting meeting in the home of Mrs. W. H. Triggs Tuesday evening. The life of Benjamin Franklin furnished the theme for answers to roll call and for the basis of a character study and also the subjects for short poems by each member. Delightful refreshments were enjoyed.

FARMERS PAYING EXCESSIVE RATES

Spend Millions Needlessly for Interest on Store Credit, Says Department of Agriculture.

BANK RATES THE LOWEST

Department Urges Thrift, Industry and Reliability on Farmers to Win Credit Standing—Bankers Asked to Help.

The cost to farmers of credit from stores is more than 25 per cent when calculated on the basis of a yearly interest rate, while banks charge little more than 6 per cent, says the official report of the Department of Agriculture on its recent survey of farm credit in North Carolina.

"Farmers would profit greatly if they could place themselves in position to borrow from banks and pay their bills with cash," the report continues. "Merchants would be benefited, since they could then give their attention strictly to merchandising and avoid the risk of loss which they now assume. Bankers would also profit, due to the resulting improvement in farmers' financial condition and the increased business which these farmers would give the banks."

A Matter of Habit

Discussing the question as to why farmers rely on store instead of bank credit, the report says that many do so out of habit and do not realize how high the cost of the store credit is.

"There are others, however, who cannot obtain credit from banks," it goes on. "This is often due to the fact that no contact has been established and the farmer's credit rating has not been determined. Banks prefer character and general business ability over any tangible security in making loans. A REPUTATION FOR THRIFT, INDUSTRY AND RELIABILITY IS THE BEST POSSIBLE ASSET FOR A MAN WANTING CREDIT."

"The first step in giving farmers better credit is to build up better contacts. This will require co-operation of county agents, farm organizations and the bankers themselves. But the banks cannot do it all. Effort toward a better acquaintance is necessary on the part of farmers. Frankness regarding their business affairs is essential."

The large part credit cost plays in agricultural conditions is pointed out by the department's report, which says North Carolina farmers contract debts amounting to more than $200,000,000 annually, and therefore a difference of only 1 per cent in the average interest rate would affect the net income from agriculture there approximately $2,000,000 each year. More than half the farmers in the areas investigated relied on merchandise advances, and the total merchant credit was nearly three times the short-term bank credit.

Ferguson Courts Campaign With Pardons As Issue

governor a year hence?" he was asked.

"Oh, it's too early to talk politics," he replied. "The people have some rights, even at the hands of politicians."

Lynch Davidson? "Yes, he would be a candidate, the former governor admitted and added that meant Whit Davidson too.

"And would Mrs. Ferguson be a candidate?"

"Well, she is very busy now working on school and road problems, and this prison problem and things worth while," he replied. "We have laid politics aside for a time."

The former governor then spoke of the marvelous development of roads over the state. Never a meeting of the highway commission, he said, but that many delegations of prominent citizens were there seeking funds for good roads, and bond issues being voted everywhere.

"Texas is growing at a wonderful rate," he added. "I am astonished at the vast numbers of new farm houses I see everywhere, even in old established sections. Of course, down in the Southwest and out on the plains there is a marvelous growth."

"Texas has just struck her stride. Her climate must win. The average man with a family is concerned with the cost of rearing them. He can do it so much cheaper in the South than elsewhere. They are coming here. The hard law of economics will force it. Since the prejudice against the South has faded in the North, we may look for an era of tremendous development. Our climate can't lose."

Then he spoke of the coming of cotton mills.

"One got a charter to locate in Galveston last week," he said. "There are five others seeking charters—all of them from eastern parts of the country."

"These are but just forerunners of the great tide of industries that are to pour into Texas. Sixty-eight per cent of all the raw products we now sell to the east we buy back as finished products. Think of the immense freight costs, shipping both ways, and think of the great pay rolls we might support here if we did our own manufacturing."

Then the former governor explained how Texas spent $55,000,000 more a year for automobiles than we made profit on our 4,000,000 bale cotton crop.

"It's an awful drain on us and we must make the automobiles here and keep the money circulating among our own folks," he added.

The former governor thinks he is going to pull the Texas prison system out of debt once more, if the crop season will permit.

"I've just looked over 22,000 acres of fine cotton, a little small for the season, but healthy, and with a good season from now on we will show them something," he said.

"But my wife is not permitting the rations of the men in the convict camps to be cut down," says Jim. "She regards that as poor economy and so do I. We are going to take good care of the men," and then the governor added:

"And my wife isn't to be bluffed away from her policy of granting a pardon to any convict when she thinks it advisable. She will keep up that, and she may make some mistakes, but being a good, Christian woman, she had rather err on the side of mercy than to do an injustice."

The former governor left for his home in Austin Saturday night.

fashionable shopping center. It was in this hotel that he had resided during his official life in Washington.

The former vice president had planned a 10-day stay in the capital. It was one of the periodic visits he had made here since his retirement from the vice presidency in 1921, and on these occasions he always had called at the White House to pay his respects to the president.

The heart attack, which followed quickly on his arrival here last Monday, however, prevented him from making any calls or receiving any callers.

Despite his 71 years, he reacted favorably to the treatment given him by physicians, whose examinations recorded a slow but gradual improvement almost until the end.

Mr. Marshall came to public office from Columbia City, Ind., but recently he had opened a law office and moved into a modest residence at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 1.—News of the death of Thomas R. Marshall at Washington came as a shock to his home state. His many friends in all political parties had hoped his recent illness would be overcome.

Mr. Marshall, following his retirement as vice president in March, 1921 had maintained a home here, although he was absent from the city a good part of the time on speaking tours. He had practiced law here in a casual way, accepting only a few cases and declining to become involved in any way that would prove unduly burdensome.

Since leaving the vice presidency, he has been almost inactive in politics. His only public appearances have been on speaking tours, where he continued until the last to expound his quaint philosophies.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall purchased a home here in September, 1922, in the heart of one of the old residential districts. In seeking a house, Mr. Marshall said he would require a place with a front porch, a back yard and a nook for his books. Included in his 2500 volumes, he said, he had "a little of everything from Abe Lincoln to Abe Martin."

The home which Mr. Marshall purchased apparently met all his ideas, for it had a commodious veranda, a deep backyard, and the house itself was of the architectural period of high ceilings, big rooms and general massiveness.
